

What will you do if you don't understand the content you are revising?

What will you do if you don't understand
some of the terminology?

The background is a vibrant, multi-colored geometric pattern composed of various triangles and squares in shades of teal, blue, orange, pink, and green. In the center, there is a large, white, cloud-like thought bubble with a thick black outline. The bubble's border is decorated with a series of overlapping, wavy, ribbon-like shapes in pink and green. Inside the bubble, the text is written in a simple, black, sans-serif font.

What will you do if you are feeling very under confident in preparing for the examination?

What will you do
if you are struggling with
how to actually
revise?

How will you test out if your revision strategy is working during the revision period?

What will you do if you feel the material to be revised isn't 'sticking'?
